

Table of Contents

Chapter 1: Getting Started	1
How do I choose the sport(s) I want to officiate?	1
Why is it called “working” a game?	1
Can I officiate a sport I did not play?	1
Is it advantageous to officiate a sport that I played?	2
How many sports should I officiate when getting started?	2
How do I contact a local officiating group?	3
How do I contact my state association?	3
Chapter 2: Gearing Up	5
How important is appearance to an official?	5
What equipment do I need to get started officiating?	5
Who supplies officiating clothing and equipment?	6
Is there a difference in quality of clothing and equipment?	6
How do I maintain my clothing and equipment?	7
Is it okay to use hand-me-downs from other officials?	8
Should I wait until I have worked a few games before I purchase my clothing and equipment?	8
Chapter 3: Learning How	9
How do I learn to officiate?	9
Do I need to be in good physical shape to be an official?	10
Do all schools have a room assigned to officials where they can dress and shower?	10
Are there officiating camps I can attend? What is the cost?	11
Do I need to attend association meetings?	13
Are there any books, audiotapes, or videos to help me?	14
Are there study groups that discuss rules and mechanics?	14
Should I keep a journal of all my games?	15
How important is it that I find a mentor?	16
About new officials: What are the pet peeves of veterans?	17
Chapter 4: Game Assignments	19
How do I receive officiating assignments?	19
What is considered a great schedule?	20
What should I do if I receive a schedule I do not like?	21
How do I turn back a game?	22
What happens if my assignor gets upset because I cannot work an assigned game?	24
Can I call a coach directly to get an assignment?	24
Can I still officiate without joining an association?	25
How do I become “known” as an official?	26

Chapter 5: Association Leadership	29
How do I become an officer in an association?	29
What are the advantages of being an officer?	29
What are the disadvantages of being an officer?	30
Would this political position enhance my chances of receiving a better schedule?	31
Chapter 6: Internet Resources	33
Are there websites dedicated to officials?	33
Where can I find a Discussion Forum where ideas on officiating are shared?	33
How do I join an email officiating community?	34
Chapter 7: Insurance	35
As an official what types of insurance do I need?	35
If I get sued, what do I do?	35
How does game-fee protection work?	36
Chapter 8: Tracking Finances	37
How important is it to keep track of the officiating money I make and related expenses I incur?	37
What if I am compensated in cash?	37
How much money can I expect to make if I officiate?	38
Is officiating something that I do because of the money I can make?	39
Can I make officiating my career?	40
Chapter 9: Working Games	43
During my first year must I know “all” the rules?	43
How important are mechanics to my success?	44
How important are signals to my success?	45
Is it important that I get along with my partner?	46
Is common sense important when enforcing rules?	48
What happens if I lose my cool during a game?	49
What can I do to move the game along?	50
What does advantage/disadvantage mean?	51
Am I allowed to talk to the media after a game?	53
Chapter 10: Managing Coaches	55
What is the best way to talk with a coach?	55
If a coach disagrees with my calls, what do I do?	56
Am I allowed to talk to a coach during a game?	58
May coaches physically contact officials in anger?	60
Chapter 11 Managing Players	61
How do I handle a player who is out-of-control?	61
May I eject a player for using obscenities?	61

How do I approach a coach to let him know a player is causing problems?	62
What do I do if a player shoves me?	64
Chapter 12: Managing Spectators	65
How do I handle an unruly spectator?	65
What do I do if a spectator heckles the opponents?	66
How do I handle the situation when a fan comes onto the floor/field and argues a call?	67
What do I say to a spectator who asks me a question about the game I just worked?	68
Chapter 13: Avoiding Mistakes	69
What are the common blunders new officials make?	69
How can I avoid making the common blunders?	71
What are some of the myths about officiating?	72
How do I remain unbiased?	74
How do I avoid the “homer” syndrome?	75
How do I avoid alienating my partners?	76
How do I avoid association cliques?	77
Chapter 14: Moving Up	79
How can I become a college official?	79
Is it difficult to make it to the professional ranks (NBA, MLB, NFL, NHL, etc.)?	81
Do I need a college education to move up?	83
Is it important that I am successful at my current level before looking for advancement opportunities?	84
What are the common occupations of college and professional officials?	85
How much travel is involved in officiating?	86
Is it okay just to be a good high school official?	86
How do I set specific, realistic goals?	87
Chapter 15: Personal Impact	89
Will my employment suffer if I become an official?	89
Will I lose time away from my family if I officiate?	90
Does officiating take a toll on the family budget?	90

Appendix	93
Articles	93
Going to Camp	93
How to Look Your Best	98
Officials are Made, not Born	102
Mentoring Today's Rookie	105
Recruit and Retain	110
Rookie/Veteran Interaction	114
Communicating and Dealing with Coaches	117
Every Game You Call is Important	125
Reference Materials	131